The Storm

pemLast night, a terrible storm hit the small village of Upper Easton. The strong winds blew away the roofs of several houses. The rain that followed flooded the basements of five homes in the village center. The "Golden Lion Inn", the local pub, suffered the most damage. The flood filled the cellar of the old building and watered down the stocks of ale and wine. Outside Upper Easton the storm has blown down a large oak tree. The tree trunk is blocking the road to Lower Easton and possibly will do so for several more hours. The police and the local fire brigade will clear the road as soon as possible. The authorities ask drivers going from Lensington to Bridgefield to use the signed out diversion./em/p

2	You are doing an internship at a local radio station and have just received the news report about the storm last night. Unfortunately, Alan, the stations newscaster, doesn't like the text. He asks you to put in to the passive voice to make it sound more "news like".
	 Put the text into the passive voice. You can divide sentences if you want to, but all information must be included. Dein Freund Max interessiert sich sehr für dein Praktikum. Leider spricht er nicht so gut Englisch. Deshalb bittet er dich die überarbeitete Nachrichtenmeldung zu übersetzen.

③ Put the following sentences into the passive voice. Leave out the by-agent if it is possible.

olliLevi Strauss invented the blue jeans. /liliOur teacher told us that we will go on a trip./liliAfter a thief had stolen my bike I went to the police./liliAlex and I are having a party next week./liliI will give Mom a book for her birthday./liliEverybody can understand that text. /liliMany people like watching football./liliSomebody will play the piano./liliThey are building a new school next to our house./liliGreg and Lou haven't done the work by themselves./li/olp/p
