

Do or make?

TO DO

is used when we talk about activities or tasks that we perform.

Examples: do the laundry, do homework, do the dishes, do a job, do exercise is used when we talk about creating or producing something.

TO MAKE

Examples: make a cake, make a drawing, make a plan, make a decision, make a mistake

① Decide! Do or make?

- a) Can you please some coffee for me?
- b) I need to my laundry before the weekend.
- c) She likes to art in her free time.
- d) He always forgets to his chores around the house.
- e) We should a plan before we start the project.
- f) My dad likes to crossword puzzles in the morning.
- g) They their own bread because it's cheaper.
- h) I have to my hair before the party tonight.
- i) She's going to a salad for lunch.
- j) He needs to some exercise to stay healthy.
- k) Let's a cake for the party!
- l) He's going to his best on the exam tomorrow.
- m) They're going to a fire in the fireplace tonight.
- n) Can you please me a favor (=gefallen tun) and water my plants while I'm gone?
- o) She loves to homemade pasta from scratch.
- p) I usually the dishes after dinner.
- q) He's going to a phone call to his parents later.
- r) We need to some grocery shopping for dinner tonight.

