

How to write a book review

- ① Follow the internet links and read the book reviews about „Looking for Alaska“.
  - a) Fill in the gaps in the text below.
  - b) Go back to the reviews on the internet and work on the useful language. Fill this in the Good notes document

A book review

A book review is a form of literary criticism in which a book is analysed based on content, style, and merit. It has an introduction, a main part and a conclusion.

① Introduction: Fill in the correct words.

attention   joke   reaction

This often starts with a  or anecdote to catch the reader's .

Alternatively, it describes the reader's first  or states clearly what is being reviewed.

② Main Part

opinion   plot outline

This section consists of a short  and the writer's  about the central aspects of the work, supported by facts and examples.

③ Conclusion

recommendation   view   warning

Here the writer's  is summed up and the conclusion usually includes a  or a . Often presented as a rating.