

② Wally's Chase for Wanda's Wand

Wally: Hello there, Miss Wicked Witch. What brings you to my part of town?

Wanda: Oh Wally, I need your help.

Wally: Sorry, no can do. I'm rather busy with other cases and I don't really have the time for all that witchcraft business.

Wanda: This is important! My wand has been stolen by that good-for-nothing Greta!

Wally: Well, why don't you just use your special skills and make another one?

Wanda: It's not about making another one. This stick was different, it had powers like no other. And now she has it. You must help me get it back!

Wally: Why should I bother myself with witches' fights?

Wanda: (promising) Because I am willing to pay a lot of money if you find it for me.

Wally: Hmmm ... well, in that case, I suppose I could accompany you on this little adventure.

(They fly off on his broomstick)

Wanda: Alright, here's her house. Let's take a peek inside and see what she's up to.

Wally: She better not turn us into frogs.

Wanda: Don't worry, I'll handle it.

(Wanda knocks on the door and an unsuspecting Greta opens it)

Wanda: (venomously) Give me back my magic stick!

Greta: (lecturing) Oh Wanda, always trying to teach others a lesson. But I'm afraid I won't be fair and square. And besides, I need it for my magic lessons.

Wanda: (furious) How dare you steal from me?! (pushes Greta aside) Hand it over.

(Greta fights back with a spell, knocking both Wally and Wanda to the ground)

Wally: (surprised) Wow, she's tricky. We underestimated her.

Wanda: Gather some herbs, Wally. We're going to make a special potion and chase her out of here.

Wally: I think we need to find another way. She's more powerful than I thought.

Wanda: (angrily) Fine, fine, I'll handle this on my own if you can't keep up.

(Wanda starts chanting spells)

Greta: (now impressed) Well, well, looks like someone has been practicing her magic after all. But you're too late!

(Greta is revealing a magical barrier)

Wally: (confused) What's happening?

Greta: You see, this wand isn't just any wand. It has the power to protect its owner. You won't be able to touch me.

Wanda: (frustrated) Curse you, Greta!

Greta: Now, Wanda, remember this magical lesson. Some things aren't worth chasing, no matter the treasure they promise. And as for you, Wally, maybe next time you'll think twice before meddling in witch affairs for the sake of gold or any worldly gain.

(Wally, realizing the situation, humbly admits his mistake)

Wally: My apologies, Greta. I should have known better than to get involved in magical disputes. We'll leave you to your lessons.

(Wally and Wanda reluctantly leave Greta's residence)
